クロツラヘラサギ(黒面篋鷺)
トキ科 L=77cm

A group of five white birds with black faces and long necks, likely Black-faced stilts, are captured in flight over a body of water. The birds are shown in various stages of flight, with their long necks extended forward and their wings spread. The water is dark and rippled, and the background is a dark, out-of-focus shoreline. The text at the bottom of the image provides the species name and its length.

ヘラサギ(篋鷺) トキ科 L=86cm
